After the Great Fight.

The Principals Both Leave New Orleans.

OPINIONS OF THE BIG BATTLE.

It seems that Kilrain was not in the proper condition to fight—Muldoo does not want to see any more ring fighting—Other comments.

NEW ORLEANS, July 10.—Sullivan, Muldoo and Cleary are still at their old quarters on Rampart street. Sullivan and Cleary drove to Spanish Fort late yesterday afternoon, and while returning stopped at a friend's on Esplanade street and Sullivan drank quite freely. At 9:30 yesterday evening Sullivan was presented at the gymnastic club with a horseshoe of flowers, and made a very brief speech of thanks. He reached his rooms at 9:45 very much under the influence of liquor. Four police-men stood outside to see that he did not do any damage. It is said that Sullivan and Cleary start for New York today on the steamship Hudson. It is not known whether Muldoo will go with them or not.

Kilrain did not seem to be feeling the effects of his punishment much. There are queer rumors about him. After arriving at the club house Monday night he vomited a greenish substance, some of which has been sent for analysis. It is learned that for some time previous to the fight he had been taking medicine for some ailment. Dr. Dougherty, of Philadelphia, was treating him. The doctor says it was for a "boil." Some of the members of the club say that if they had known this they would never have invited Kilrain to be their guest.

Mike Donovan says he knew nothing about it previous to the fight. There seems no doubt that Mitchell knew it. Professor Robinson, trainer at the Southern Athletic club, who saw the fight, alleges that it was a hypodermic. He says Sullivan could have ended the fight any time. "The men seemed to have an understanding. While I agree that Kilrain was in no condition to fight, yet agree with Professor Robinson's views.

Kilrain was treated rather coolly at the club yesterday morning before he left for Galveston. Sullivan and his party left at 4:30 p. m. for home, via the Queen and Crescent route.

Marsh Nelson has deposited $400 to make a match between Lemuel McGregor, the "St. Joe Kid," and Jack Fallon, of Brooklyn, for $1,000 to $5,000 a side, in November, within 200 miles of New Orleans.

William Muldoo, Sullivan's trainer, said of the fight: "I think it was the greatest fight that ever took place between heavy-weights. Sullivan could have fought two hours longer if he had desired. He recovered his strength by my advice. I consider Kilrain the best heavy-weight fighter living, next to Sullivan. He is game and determined, and he fought on his own judgment and not on the cowardly and tricky advice of the men behind him. He would have won admiration. Sullivan was not a bit tired or injured. I have always wanted to prove to the public that he is a natural born fighter, and could fight a long and scientific battle if properly handled. Now that I have done that, I am through with this fight. I think boxing is a grand exercise, but ring fighting is too brutal, and I want to see no more of it."

In an interview last night Charles Mitchell said: "I made the mistake of overrating Kilrain. In his fight with Jim Smith he did some good work and I thought he would improve it, but he did not, and that is all there is about it. Donovan threw up the sponge to save him further punishment. He had no chance of beating Sullivan. Kilrain is a plucky and game fighter but he was outclassed."

Managers of the Soldiers Home.

DOERSON, July 10.—A quarterly meeting of the managers of the National home for disabled soldiers, was held here yesterday. Leonard A. Harris, of Cincinnati, presided, in the absence of Gen. Franklin. Only routine business was transacted. After the meeting the board went to Gardner, Me., to inspect the eastern branch of the soldiers home. The party consisted of ex-Governor Martin, of Kansas; Col. John L. Mitchell, of Milwaukee; Gen. John C. Black, of Illinois; ex-Governor Hartman, of Pennsylvania; ex-Senator Sewell, of New Jersey; Gen. Martin T. McMahon, of New York; Gen. T. B. Hyde, of Bath, Me.; and Maj. J. B. Birmingham.

Desperate Shooting.

ANNISTON, Ala., July 10.—Capt. Stallings, of the police force yesterday shot and killed William Pelham. The two men had some dispute on Saturday last which ended by Pelham being badly beaten by Stallings. Yesterday they met on the street and Pelham fired two shots at Stallings, who then drew his revolver and shot Pelham dead.

Bathing Man Drowned.

LOSS BRANCH, N. J., July 10.—William Kirby, one of the assistant bathing masters here, was drowned yesterday afternoon while attempting to save the life of William Hirsch, of New York, who had got beyond his depth while bathing. Kirby's body has not been recovered. Hirsch was brought ashore in an exhausted condition.

Relief for Johnstown.

PHILADELPHIA, July 10.—A car-load of canned fruits and wines donated to the Johnstown sufferers by the citizens of Los Angeles, Cal., was sold at auction here yesterday and $1,212 realized. The money will be turned over to the Johnstown relief committee.

A CABLE COMBINE.

The Mackay-Bennett and French Companies Amalgamate.

HALLIFAX, N. S., July 10.—The management and operation of the French cables from Sydney to St. Pierre, and thence to France, has been taken over by the Mackay-Bennett company. George C. Ward, the Mackay-Bennett New York manager, is now in Nova Scotia superintending the amalgamation.

The French company's land lines from Lonsburg, where the cable landed, to Sydney, have been dismantled, and the cable steamer Puyzeux-Quevies has laid a new cable from the main stand at Lonsburg to Fox Island, Canada. From Fox Island to Hazelhill, Canada, the cable station of the Mackay-Bennett line, the distance is four miles. The Mackay-Bennett offices and the landing place of the French cable are connected with a French cable—that is, a cable buried in a trench four feet deep or under water.

The Mackay-Bennett and French companies have entered into an amalgamation which will be a rival in the cable pool. They have, it is said, formed connections with the Canada Pacific telegraph system and in a few weeks the Canada Pacific land lines will have completed connection with the cables at Canso. In order to have another independent connection with the United States a new cable is to be immediately laid between Canso and Boston.

MEMPHIS COTTON TRADE.

Board of Trade Committee Claims That Railways Discriminate Against the City.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., July 10.—Great dissatisfaction has arisen among the cotton men of Memphis on account of the establishment of compresses at various points in the interior, which draw away cotton that would otherwise have come here. The railroads and more particularly the Chesapeake and Ohio, have been charged with the responsibility for this state of affairs because they have made rates to the east from those interior presses as low or lower than those made from Memphis.

Formal expression was given to this discontent Monday afternoon, when the "trade committee" of the Cotton Exchange petitioned the legislative municipal council of Memphis to curtail the privileges granted the Chesapeake and Ohio road within the city limits. As cotton is the backbone of Memphis this is not an unlikely thing to do. The committee is already pressing its case on the railroad. A lively fight is expected.

Liquor Legislation.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., July 10.—The general assembly was convened in special session yesterday to enact a law to regulate the liquor traffic. A special committee was created to report July 16 on a liquor law. In the house a license law was introduced including among its provisions local option, with the license to manufacture or sell fixed at not less than $1,000; the retail license at not less than $200; and a general increase of $50 in the former licenses. The assembly adjourned to July 16. A motion to hold the adjourned session at Newport was defeated.

Probably Gone to Canada.

BOSTON, July 10.—A special to The Journal from Cole Brook, N. H., says that Elmon H. Williams, formerly a successful business man at that place, has left town, and his business is in an unsatisfactory shape. From $75,000 to $80,000 is said to be out, with alleged fraudulent endorsements on some of it. It is also alleged that the burning of the records at Lancaster, N. H., gave him an opportunity to place second mortgages. His transactions were principally with banks in Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont.

More Signers to the Scale.

PITTSBURGH, July 10.—Four more iron firms have signed the Antimongrel wage scale. Oliver Brothers & Phillips, three iron mills and one steel plant, employing over 3,000 men; J. Painter & Sons, Moorhead Brothers & Company, and Union Rolling Mill company, of Cleveland, O. The mill committee of the steel department of the United States Tin Plates works were in conference with the firm yesterday. The latter will probably sign the scale to-morrow.

Thought It Was an Earthquake.

TARRYTOWN, N. Y., July 10.—The buildings of this town were violently shaken yesterday, as were also the buildings in the adjacent villages by a terrific explosion. The shock resembled an earthquake. The disturbance was caused by the blowing up of the Rand Drill company's powder house. No one was injured, and but, little or no damage was done to property.

Fear of a Lynching.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., July 10.—William Miles, who killed Sheriff Bronson, of Taney county, and Deputy Funk on July 4, surrendered to the sheriff of Green county yesterday, at Springfield. He is to be tried Monday for the killing of Capt. Nat Kinney, the Bald Knobber leader. Great excitement prevails in Taney county, and it is feared that Miles will be lynched.

Wanted for Insurance Money.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., July 10.—Starting revelations are being made in the insurance murder cases at Pittston. The bodies of Mr. and Mrs. McGlynn were exhumed yesterday, and a chemist has found arsenic in the stomach of the woman. The other body has not been examined. Edward McGlynn, son of the murdered people, and his wife are still in jail.

At Blackmar, Mich., Charles Blackmar, while drunk, shot his mother, 75 years old. A grandson of the woman seized the gun and discharged its contents into Charles' breast. Mother and son are probably dying.

For the Census Office.

Qualifications of Applicants for Appointment.

THOSE ALREADY SELECTED.

No More Selections to Be Made Until After the First of September—A Present to Secretary Rank—Appointments. Other Dispatches From the National Capital.

WASHINGTON, July 10.—Secretary Noble has appointed the following board of examiners to pass upon the qualifications of applicants for appointment in the census office: F. L. Campbell, a clerk in the office of the secretary of the interior; Josiah C. Stoddard, disbursing officer of the census bureau; W. C. Hunt, special agent in charge of social statistics of the census. The board is directed to formulate the necessary rules for its guidance and to prepare examination papers for applications and submit them as soon as practicable to the secretary of the interior for his approval.

The board expects to be in active operation in about a month.

Secretary Noble said that no more appointments, except those already determined upon, will be made in the census office until after September 1, and then appointments will be made from the list of applicants who have passed a successful examination before the board of examiners. To this board all applications and applicants coming along between now and September 1, will be referred to a great extent of the burden of making examinations. Superintendent Porter says he will now devote his time to mapping out the work of the census and selecting the 175 supervisors. Each supervisor will have under him about 350 enumerators.

The Government Will Assist.

WASHINGTON, July 10.—Frank Brown, president of the Maryland Exposition association, has requested the secretary of war to permit the present garrison of Fort Mifflin, consisting of three batteries of the third artillery, to co-operate with the citizens of Baltimore in celebrating the anniversary of the battle of North Point. The secretary has approved the request. Mr. Brown, in his letter of request states that the Maryland State Agricultural and Mechanical association and other bodies of the city of Baltimore, contemplate holding a grand state fair on the Public fair grounds during the week commencing Sept. 1, 1889. Historical scenes will be reproduced at the exposition and the artillery is desired to make more effective a sham battle which it is proposed to have.

Changes in the Pension Office.

WASHINGTON, July 10.—There is considerable discussion in the pension office over impending changes, especially in the board of medical examiners. This board is composed of twenty-two members, and it is said to be almost unanimously Democratic. Commissioner Tanner refuses to state reasons, if any, were assigned for the removals yesterday. He says, however, that changes will be made in the personnel of the board from time to time. Among officials in the interior department outside of classified service, the opinion prevails that numerous changes are impending.

New Postmasters.

WASHINGTON, July 10.—The president last yesterday afternoon appointed thirty-three postmasters, as follows: New Hampshire—Jesse Tuttle, at Berlin Falls; F. W. Pease, at Wolfborough; Massachusetts—Charles H. Stacey, at West Newton; New York—Edward Daniels, at Sherburne; W. A. Ferris, at Lamo; J. A. White, at Deposit; and E. W. Aldis, at Brewster. New Jersey—T. E. Hayes, at Bloomfield; L. B. Gibbs, at Hackettstown. Pennsylvania—S. M. Long, at Manheim. Ohio—Alfred C. Navagon, at Canal Dover. Michigan—C. C. Stephenson, at Escanaba.

Secretary Rank's Present.

WASHINGTON, July 10.—Secretary Rank of the agricultural department, has been presented by Gen. Felix Agnew, of the Baltimore American, with the full-dressed Percheron mare which Secretary Rank rode at the time he drove the hay wagon with the newspaper men to Gen. Agnew's farm, near a few weeks since. The mare is named Maryland Dady, and is by imported Sultan, out of a full-blooded Percheron mare, imported by W. T. Walters.

Pension Office Overruled.

WASHINGTON, July 10.—Assistant Secretary Bussey has overruled the pension office and granted a pension to Solomon Dudley. The evidence shows that Dudley received a wound in the arm by the bursting of a gun barrel which he was using as a poker at a camp fire while preparing supper. It is held that he was in the line of duty at the time, and the accident was not the result of culpable negligence.

A Military Order.

WASHINGTON, July 10.—Gen. Schofield, with the approval of the secretary of war, has directed the adjutant general to inform Gen. Crook to use the entire Second regiment of infantry for distribution to the camps of the Iowa National guard during the annual encampment instead of going to the department camp of instruction at Fort Robinson, Neb.

Presidential Respite.

WASHINGTON, July 10.—The president has granted a respite in the case of Frank Cavell, convicted of murder committed in Indian territory and sentenced to be hanged July 17. A respite is given until August 9 in order to give the president an opportunity to examine the case. His sister is here seeking his pardon.

Ordered Home.

WASHINGTON, July 10.—The officers of the vessels wrecked at Samoa, with the exception of Surgeons White and Norvell, have been ordered to their homes from San Francisco, where they arrived last Saturday.

Back in Washington.

WASHINGTON, July 10.—Mr. Walker Blaine, solicitor of the state department, has returned from New London, Connecticut.

WRECKED AND BURNED.

Thirteen Coal Cars Demolished on the Pennsylvania—Three Trains Killed.

PITTSBURGH, July 10.—As far as known the freight accident on the Pennsylvania railroad, near Wildmerding station, twenty miles east of this city, last night, resulted in the death of three persons and the injury of three others. Their names were:

Killed—William Connelly, bootblack, aged about 15 years, residence Pittsburgh. Killed outright.

John Hyde, newsboy, aged 15 years, residence Pittsburgh, died on way to hospital.

An unknown man about 25 years old; died at hospital.

Injured—Andrew Kennedy, newsboy, aged 14 years, Pittsburgh, right arm and thigh broken; probably fatally hurt.

Alfred Young, colored, aged about 25 years, Lima, O., continued back and otherwise seriously injured; John Kennedy, aged 23 years, Milwaukee, badly cut and bruised; will probably recover.

A number of others were reported to have been caught in the wreck, but no trace of them has yet been found. The accident was caused by a broken wheel. The train, which consisted of thirty-seven loaded freight cars and two engines, left this city for the east about 8:30 o'clock last night, and the accident happened at 10 o'clock. Thirteen cars were completely demolished. The wreck immediately took fire, and was entirely destroyed. None of the trainmen were injured. The killed and injured, with the exception of Kennedy and Young, were stealing their way to Johnstown. A tramp, who escaped, said there were at least twenty-five persons on the train, but, he said, he could not find out their names. It is thought this was untrue. Trains east and west were delayed several hours, both tracks being blocked. The damage will reach many thousands of dollars.

STRUCK BY THE BOOM.

A Woman Knocked From a Vessel and Drowned at Galveston.

Galveston, Tex., July 10.—Tuesday an accident occurred in the channel between Kuhn's and the government wharfboat by which Mrs. Amelia Bishop lost her life. The small steamer, Philosophy, under command of Capt. H. Walker, rounded out of the slip between Kuhn's and Central wharves. Sitting on the cabin were Mr. and Mrs. Bishop, who resided in Bolivar, about fifteen miles from here. While hoisting the mainsail the wind caught it, sweeping the boom across the deck of the vessel. Mrs. Bishop was struck by the boom and knocked overboard. The captain and lander both did nothing toward rescuing the woman.

There were perhaps forty or fifty persons standing on the wharf to see the finish of the yacht race at the time the accident occurred, and yet somehow no direct efforts were made to save the woman until Philip McDonald jumped overboard from the lighter Besie and swam out, only to see the woman sink just before he reached her. Late yesterday evening the body was recovered and an inquest was held. The Philosophy is the same vessel in which old man Phillips was so mysteriously murdered two or more years ago.

BROODED OVER HIS TROUBLES.

A Triple Tragedy Takes Place Between Colored People of Pittsburgh.

PITTSBURGH, July 10.—The triple tragedy that occurred at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon at No. 5 Arthur street, occasioned much excitement in that quarter of the city. Richard Lewis, the mariner and suicide, was a plasterer by trade and boarded with Mrs. Mosby, a young widow, with two children, and her sister, Miss Emeline Meyers. As Lewis entered the house he remarked upon the heat and passed through to his own apartment in the back part of the house. He then called to Mrs. Mosby, who responded at once. Just as she reached Lewis' room he shot her through the heart, killing her instantly.

Miss Meyers ran to the room and was shot by Lewis just as she reached the door. The shot passed through the woman's body, inflicting fatal injuries. The murderer then sent a bullet through the head and fell dead in his tracks. All the parties are colored. Lewis was frequently insisted upon Mrs. Mosby marrying him. Sunday evening Lewis placed his suit with Mrs. Mosby more vehemently than ever. Mrs. Mosby ordered him to stop and not renew the subject. This resulted in a quarrel and the accident was not the result of culpable negligence.

Killed Two Women, Then Himself.

PITTSBURGH, July 10.—At 2 o'clock p. m. William Lewis, at No. 5 Arthur street, shot Mrs. Mosby and her sister, Miss Morgan. Mrs. Mosby is dead, and Miss Morgan is dying. Lewis then killed himself. Cause unknown; all colored.

To Take the Place of Strikers.

PITTSBURGH, July 10.—One hundred men, some skilled and unskilled, will be taken up to Carnegie's homestead early in the morning to take the place of the strikers. As the strikers are in very bad humor trouble is feared.

Relief of Johnstown.

Report of the Pennsylvania Relief Commission.

COST OF OPENING THE RIVER.

Where the Money That Has Been Paid for the Relief of the Sufferers Has Gone to—The Amount Still Unpaid—A Disagreement.

CRESSON SPRINGS, Pa., July 10.—Governor Beaver's state relief commission met here yesterday afternoon. The state officers at Johnstown and the Johnstown finance committee were in attendance. The wreck at Wildmerding station, on the Pennsylvania railway, and the refusal of the conductor of the limited to carry the state officers occasioned an annoying delay. Quartermaster Hill presented his report of disbursements for relief of sufferers as follows:

Commissionary department, $29,307.98. Bureau of inspection, $667.86. Adjutant general's office, $262. Medical department, $1,038.67. Department public safety, $6,160.80. Quartermaster general's department, $3,933.23.

Department of valuable, $337.30. Total disbursements for reopening Conemaugh river and highways, $472,293.34.

Bills yet due on account of works, $10,137.70.

The money for cleaning rivers and highways was paid out of the state fund. The money for relief of sufferers was paid from the government's fund. Since June 12, Contractors Kidgo gets $9,168.40; McKnight, $33,792.73 for state work and $8,119.70 for relief work. An account of $7,820.56 is still unpaid. McKnight and the state time keepers disagree on the statement. McKnight & Company, of Philadelphia, receives $31,607.10.

FLOOD DAMAGES.

New York Visited by a Heavy Rain Downfall.

ALBANY, N. Y., July 10.—A special from Johnstown, N. Y., reports that a heavy rain has been falling since early yesterday afternoon. The downpour coming from the Cayuga creek to become a raging torrent, which soon burst its bounds. The dams gave way, being unable to stand the enormous pressure. On swept the torrent, taking with it the several skin factories along its banks, valued at many hundreds of dollars. A number of buildings and outhouses were also swept away.

TRUE LIGHT BAPTISTS.

A Religious Sect Makes Its Appearance in South Carolina.

COLUMBIA, S. C., July 10.—The Southern Christian Advocate describes a new religious sect which has appeared in Sumter and adjoining counties in the eastern part of the state. It was founded some years ago by a former Methodist named Taylor, his followers baptizing themselves "True Light Baptists." They are, however, now known as Boylston. Their ranks are recruited from among the most ignorant classes. They are not very numerous.

It is hard to tell just what their belief is, but some of its features are that there must be no paid ministry, but all members who feel called on to preach do so voluntarily, including women. They believe that they alone are God's true followers, and that they alone will be saved. They reject the Old Testament, and such parts of the New Testament as fail to support their doctrines. They do not observe the Sabbath, declaring that it was abrogated along with the Levitical law. They believe in social equality of the races, in immersion, and in the damnation of infants of non-Boylston parents.

Jealousy Causes a Murder and Suicide.

SAN JOSE, Cal., July 1.—Mrs. Jessie Hunter was shot and killed by a saloon keeper named Park at Agnew's, four miles from here, Saturday night. Park then shot himself in the left breast and died from his wound Sunday. The woman had been living with Park and the shooting was the outcome of jealousy.

The C. & D. Leased.

New York, July 10.—It was announced yesterday that the negotiations for a lease of the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton railroad by one of the western systems, were successfully closed, and that the directors would probably meet on Thursday to ratify the agreement.

CARELESS HANDLING OF POWDER.

Injured by the Premature Explosion of a Blast.

NORTH VERNON, Ind., July 10.—A sickening accident occurred here yesterday afternoon, which resulted in severe injuries to the city marshal, George W. Shaffer, and probably fatally injured a colored man named Bryant Litssey. Mr. Litssey, who is an employee in Clesner's stone quarry, was engaged in putting in a blast. He had poured in some powder, and was tamping down a handful of dirt, when the powder exploded.

Litssey received the charge in his face, horribly tearing and mauling it, and probably destroying his sight. Mr. Shaffer, who was standing near, was thrown down and terribly bruised and blackened about the face. Bryant Litssey is one of the most industrious and honorable of our colored citizens, and has the sympathy of the entire community in his terrible misfortune which may cost him his life.

Glass-Workers' Convention.

PITTSBURGH, July 1.—The National convention of the American Flint Glass-Workers' association met at Bellah, O., Monday, and will remain in session all week. Nearly 200 delegates were present from all parts of the country. The session was devoted to the reading of reports and routine business. No trouble is expected on the wage question this year except among the shade and chimney men, who have not been able to settle their differences with the manufacturers.

Training in Civilization.

INDIAN SCHOOL, CARLEISLE, Pa., July 11.—One hundred and seventeen young Indians belonging to tribes in Dakota, Montana, Nebraska, Wisconsin, Indian territory, New Mexico and Arizona, have finished a five years' course at the government school here, and left for their homes. Six were regular graduates. All speak English. The young men have had good training as mechanics and farmers, while the girls have been well instructed in household duties.

Charged With Swindling.

SARASOTA, N. Y., July 10.—Charles E. Whitney, representing himself as president of the Commercial Travelers' association, has been arrested, charged with swindling a physician, by pretending to employ him as medical adviser to the association, and requiring him to pay for notices sent to the members.

A Valuable Franchise.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., July 10.—The Derby railroad, between this city and Ansonia and Newbyville, has been leased for ninety-nine years to the Honolua railroad, giving the latter an entrance to this city and connection with New York by the Star-in line of steamers.

OUR NEW YORK LETTER.

SEA FOOD HAS BECOME POPULAR IN AMERICA.

Fishes-Curtis Holds That the Example of the Chinese Has Been Followed in This Matter and Gives Some Interesting Information.

(Special Correspondence.)

New York, July 8.—The American people seem to be rapidly following in the footsteps of the Chinese, who for at least twenty centuries have given fish the first place in gastronomy and hygiene. Economy has much to do with this ever increasing demand for sea food, for the increasing number of persons who make a careful study of gastronomy have for some time been calling attention to the numerous advantages of fish over meat. In the numerous works of Edward Atkinson on the subject of food he dwells on this point at great length, explaining that the waste portions of meat are much larger in proportion than those of fish. In purchasing meat the consumer has to pay for the waste portions of bone, gristle, superfluous fat, and even skin, while in buying fish there is very little but solid food to be paid for. Moreover, fish, of what may be called equal grades with the various kinds of meat in the market, may be purchased for considerably less per pound.

The reasons are obvious. Meat, excepting what is called "game," is an expensive thing to produce, and has to be treated from the time of birth to the moment of slaughter, each day of care adding to its cost. Fish, on the other hand, simply "grows" like topsy. All that man has to do is to reach for his hand (with a net or a rod and line) and take in the food which nature provides. In abundance in all her streams and bodies of water.

Just now is the fisherman's harvest day. Not only is the time of year the pleasantest for going down to the sea in ships, but the fish which the fisherman catches in their best condition, and as if realizing this fact, they are coming, after the annual custom, up towards the shores to be caught. Wherever thousands of professional fishermen are at work and hundreds of amateurs are at play around New York just now.

Owing to the constantly increasing demand just mentioned, the business of catching fish by wholesale is constantly enlarging. When a few years ago a comparatively small fleet of schooners was ample to supply the New York market with what fish could be sold, there are now many scores of large steamers fitted out for long cruises and large catches.

Of equal importance are the increased facilities for keeping and preserving all forms of animal tissue, whether fish, flesh or fowl. In every city are now cold storages, on every railroad refrigerator cars, and even at points of production, such as the salmon, trout and pompano districts, are ice houses where the largest designs of the deep can be frozen solid in a half hour. On this account the trio of great fishes mentioned are to be had in every first class restaurant of the country.

This business of congelation is not always a success, however. Last week Henry Guy Carlton, who is an expert as well as an amateur, caught a large fish, and on the morning of the 1st of July he found it had become a diamond. The fish was a large pompano, brought by rail from New Orleans. Through some mistake the ice gave out on the journey and the fish arrived in New York in very bad condition. The cook was a stranger to the southern delicacy, and imagining that it was a game fish in both senses, cooked and served it. Each guest took one bite and became horribly silent. Carlton, who had not tasted it, asked the cook:

"How do you think that was brought on here?" intending probably to explain the refrigerator service between the gulf and the metropolis.

Nye looked up very solemnly and answered: "I think you brought it in on a horse!"

"The New Yorker has learned a new trick, which was taught by the Mongolian colony of Midway street four years ago. At that time there was a phenomenal large catch of mackerel, over seventeen million coming to Fulton fish market alone. The price fell from twelve to one cent a pound and then dropped to two fishes for a cent. Even upon this basis nearly a million were thrown away into the East River to relieve the market.

The moment the Chinese merchants heard of this they began buying mackerel and in two days had purchased two million mackerel. These they carried to the Chinese quarter and preserved in various ways. What with smoking, drying, salting, pickling, souging and desiccating, they converted their neighborhood for a fortnight into a veritable Billingsgate. They stored the preserved fish for a few weeks, during which time prices went back to their normal figure. Then they had brought for sale the best preserved mackerel, and the last prices for a pound, they sold at wholesale for eight and nine up to fifteen cents a pound.

Attogether they cleared over sixty thousand dollars upon the speculation. The success of this experiment opened the eyes of American business men. From that time on they have kept the fish market carefully in view. When prices fall below a certain limit, they buy large quantities and keep them until the market rises again. With such fishes as salmon, trout, Spanish mackerel, red snapper and pompano there is a good margin of profit, which grows larger day by day with the increase of facilities for preservation. This process has gone so far that on several occasions when there has been a heavy run of codfish in the lower bay of New York in December and January and of bluefish and bass in the early summer, speculators have realized handsomely by buying large amounts of fish and keeping them for a few weeks at a time.

The influence of the foreign upon the native population is well shown in the change of popular taste regarding fishes. Ten years ago the ray, skate, or sea, and it is variously called, was seldom if ever used as food. When caught by the angler it was used as bait or fertilizer, or else thrown overboard in disgust. The French, and in fact all the Latin races, have long esteemed it as a delicacy, and in such dishes as bouillabaisse and rissole au beurre noir, present it regularly upon bills of fare. The American, who is nothing if not imitative, has accepted this fashion and now puts the once objectionable ray upon every fish stand in the large cities of the seaboard. The same change marks the use of the sea robin and of the small fry which nowadays are denominated, according to their size, either white bass or pompano. A result of this foreign influence, the fish market has been greatly increased both in the variety of the fishes sold as well as in the amount of supply and demand.

To this should be added the efforts of the famous Ichthyophagous club, of which Fish Commissioner Eugene G. Blackford is the head and front. This curious organization makes it a regular practice to cook and eat every form of marine life, and more especially those which are strange or have never before been so employed. Through their efforts chiefly have the mackerel, mud turtle, bullhead, frog back and whitebait been popularized as articles of food. They have even gone so far as to give what may be termed a gastronomic status to such substances as shark's fin, sea fish, squids, beech of the mer, razor clams and porpoise meat.

The market at present is crowded with the king of salt water—the bluefish. It visits the Atlantic coast in countless shoals, following the sun, or porgy, upon which it preys. So absolute is that relation that whenever an angler in the late spring catches a porgy, the dealers immediately announce to their customers that they will have bluefish on their stands in two weeks. The rule has not failed. The porgy landed at Fifth Avenue Rock in 1893 and adopted the Indian name scupping for the fish, which today has shortened itself into scup in New England and porgy in Connecticut and New York. The supply of bluefish seldom runs low. It is caught in vast numbers by the professional fishermen from Norfolk to Passamaquoddy, and in appreciable quantities by amateur fishermen. At such points as Cape Cod, Rockaway, Fire Island, Montauk and Narragansett, Pier the average catch of the amateurs is so large that nearly all turn an honest penny in selling all but the few they take home. At Fire Island and Rockaway alone hundreds of fishing parties every year pay all their expenses and realize a handsome profit by selling the results of a hard day's work, with rod and reel.

The bluefish is not only the gem of all the many tribes of the ocean, but also one of the best for the table. It is superbly cooked in every style of civilized culinary art, but it is unapproachable when steamed, a la mode in Japan. Cleaned, scraped and exposed to hot steam for twenty minutes, it makes a dish whose delicacy and nutritiousness cannot be overestimated. Another new way of cooking it is to "plank" it, just like a steak. A third and most popular is to broil it, and the French, who are the great eaters of fish, have taken to broiling it in Tong-Kwin in their last war. In this exquisite dish the raw fish, broken into small fragments and seasoned with salt, black and red pepper and Worcester sauce, is covered with the thinnest slice of bread, and broiled for twenty minutes. The result cannot be described, but must be eaten to be appreciated.

The porgy, always popular but never fully appreciated, is also a prominent feature in the market. It is growing in importance with the year. Formerly it could be obtained only a month in each year. It reached the coast in vast armies, swarmed and then vanished into the ocean. During this brief period it was caught in such numbers that the price fell to a mere song. After it was gone the price rose for a few days and then came to an end. Some ingenious fisherman, however, perceived this peculiarity and built a huge pool, into which the living contents of all the nets were poured. The captives thrived in their jail and retained their health up to the moment they were taken out of the water and sent to the market.

The remarkable success of the idea led others into the same business until today there are at least a thousand porgy ponds on the New England coast. This is practically a pond run out from the shore in which there are fykes so arranged that the fish which encounter the obstruction are swept into the pool of food can enter it and once in cannot escape. Some of these on the Long Island coast have caught as high as ten thousand fish in a day. Even the unfortunates catched in more than enough to pay for the pond and the time and labor of the fisherman. What with the porgy pond and the fish pier, the porgy is now a feature in the market for several months and affords a wholesome and inexpensive food to the people of the Atlantic cities.

The crustaceans are as popular and abundant as ever. The crab, however, is supplanting the lobster in public esteem. The change is being brought about, owing to the increased demand for the former in past years, the favorite articulation was in a fair way to become extinct. The size fell season after season in consequence until the majority of these caught averaged about a pound in weight. The danger became so great that the Maine legislature passed a law prohibiting the catching of lobsters below ten inches in length, and other states followed in the steps of that commonwealth with similar enactments. One result was to increase the popularity of the crab. This is now caught and canned in colossal quantities in Texas, Florida and Maryland, while the live animals in the New York market are brought from the east belt of coast which starts at Nova Scotia and goes as far south as South Carolina. Unlike its cousins, the lobsters, the crab varies but little in different localities.

The best, according to epicures, are those from the Great South bay of Long Island and Barnegat bay in New Jersey. These long and shallow bays of water contain an inexhaustible supply. There is also a growing demand and supply of shrimps and prawns. These smaller crustaceans are rapidly coming into favor not only as dishes, but also for soups, stews, salads and sauces. The best shrimps are from Texas, and the best prawns from Florida. Singular to relate, the finest specimens that appear in the market are those from the Chinese colonies which have settled along the shores of the Gulf of Mexico. An illustration of this new taste is in the bills of fare of the fashionable restaurants of New York. Shrimp and prawn appear there in bisque, salad, sauce and omelet. It is only a question of time before they appear likewise in the menus of the west and north-west.

PALES-CURTIS

The Four Elements.

The party being seated in a circle, the player who has been selected to begin the game takes a knotted handkerchief and throws it suddenly into another's lap, calling out at the same time either "Earth!" "Water!" "Air!" or "Fire!" If "Earth!" is called out, the player into whose lap the handkerchief has fallen must name some quadruped before the other can count ten; if "Water!" he must name a fish; if "Air!" a bird, and if "Fire!" he must remain silent. Should the player name a wrong animal, or speak when he ought to be silent, he must pay a forfeit and take a turn at throwing the handkerchief; but should he perform his task properly he must throw the handkerchief back to the first player. Those who have never joined in this simple game can have no idea of the absurd errors into which the different players fall when summoned unawares to name a particular kind of animal.

Wine Savings.

The language denotes the man. Brilliant talking is only thing about. Only when compulsory is labor a curse. The very cunning conceal their cunning. It is easier to die bravely than to live so. Few marry their first love; fewer ought to. He has not lost all who has the future left him. Life cannot appear mean to one who uses it nobly.

Do You Doubt About It.

They were gathered sorrowfully around the couch of the poor fellow who had been smothered to pieces under the hammer of a pile driver.

"Do you think he will recover?" asked a young lady—possibly his sister—perhaps one who held a nearer and dearer relation.

With a mighty effort the wounded man raised his head. "Doctor," he said, "I should like to get well, but when I think what a bore I should be going about forever through life and dragging over my narrow escape, I feel it best that I should go."—Boston Transcript.

No Time for Frivolity.

Mr. Malapropos (at the baseball game)—Miss Jones—Alice, will you be kind? Miss Jones (severely)—Mr. Malapropos, with the score 10 to 0 against the home team in the ninth inning, the bases full, two of our men out and Bangit at the bat with two strikes and three balls against him, I am in doubts as to whether I am married or single.—Lawrence American.

Mark Twain's Drifters.

Mark Twain at home is not more serious than his writings would lead one to expect. He has always been fond of perpetrating jokes for which his wife has only of late years, through practical education, been able to prepare herself.

When, for instance, Mr. Clemens, on the lecture platform, once drew out a dilapidated handkerchief, worn to shreds, and after gazing at it in an astonished fashion apologized, saying that he had been "obliged to borrow one from Mr. —" naming some important personage of the town, his wife, sitting with a friend in the audience, has turned to her neighbor in the most distressed way and said:

"People will think I do not properly take care of my husband's clothes."

It is true that Mr. Clemens has no tendency toward dualisms, and that he sometimes appears in a costume more befitting a poor author than a publisher millionaire, but everybody to his taste. He is careless and absent minded, and sometimes forgets some of the requirements of the age for the outfit of a man of letters.

At my rate he is said to have called upon Mrs. Harriet Beecher Stowe without a neck tie one day after her return from the south. When he came back from his visit he hurried to his wife to tell her how their neighbor had withstood the journey and of the present condition of her health. But he was stopped in the midst of his story by the horrified look in his wife's face.

"You don't mean to say that you have been to see Mrs. Stowe?" said she. "Why, you haven't got on any necktie."

He professed great chagrin at his carelessness and rushed up stairs apparently to remedy the defect in his toilet. When he came back, some time later, he laughingly tossed his wife a letter and a necktie.

It seems that Mr. Clemens had written to Mrs. Stowe in his own inimitable fashion that as he had found that he had committed the unpardonable crime of calling upon her without a necktie he now sent her one, hoping to mitigate the sentence which she would pass upon him for his carelessness. The note which he handed his wife was a clever reply which Mrs. Stowe had sent back with the necktie.—New York Press.

"The Face at the Window."

"This letter is to my husband," she said, as she looked at a stamp at the window in the corridor of the postoffice.

"Yes."

"Will it go out today?"

"Yes."

"Will it mail?"

"Yes."

"It ought to get it day after tomorrow?"

"Yes."

"And I ought to have his letter by Saturday?"

"Yes."

"It isn't over weight?"

"No."

"And if he gets it, and if I get his answer by Saturday, I can write."

"Please don't obstruct the window, ma'am; there's forty people waiting."

"Oh, there are. That's always the way of it. I can't get a word of information out of this postoffice, try as I will. Good day, sir! I'll go across to Canada after this!"—Detroit Free Press.

A Sudden Change.

"Where's the humane agent?" he demanded, as he rushed into a store on Randolph street.

"I don't know. Why?" replied the clerk addressed.

"There's a fellow out here pounding his horse because it won't go. Thing is there's about a hundred men in this town who ought to be sent to state prison for life if I caught 'em."

"Whose horse is it?" asked the clerk, as an animal went tearing by with the wreck of a buggy at its heels.

"That's mine, and the infernal, ungrateful brute has gone and run away at some fool thing and probably made me a hundred dollars' damage. It's winder to me that more owners of horses don't knock their good for nothing heads off with sledge hammers!"—Detroit Free Press.

—Otto Coleman, residing on east South street and employed at the Millville Iron Works met with an accident one day last week. While moving some large timbers in the foundry, one of them fell upon him, bruising him considerably about the head and body in consequence of which he is now confined to his home.

—Having secured the agency for Maynard's fine Mocha and Java coffees, we are now prepared to furnish a quality of roast coffee which has no superior and but low, if any, equals. The merit of these coffees is their great strength combined with a richness of flavor which all lovers of good coffee will appreciate.

—People on the hill are considerably worked up over what they term the "childish treatment of a daughter by an immature father and ineffectual step mother."

—Reports have come to this office from various sections and sources and we fail to understand why some of the enraged neighbors do not file complaints with proper authorities. The treatment of the daughter is shameful, if reports are true, and neighbors are awaiting just vengeance.

—Upper Sandusky Chief. A tramp giving his name as Charles Wilson, was brought to jail from Matseville's township last Thursday, charged with attempting to commit rape upon a twelve year old girl named Dawson. The accused is probably twenty-six years of age, and while he does not admit the crime he is anxious to be indicted as quickly as possible, and will probably plead guilty. He says it has to go to the penitentiary he wants to go right away and not lay here in jail.

—Upper Sandusky Chief. There will be a grand soldier's reunion in this city on the first Wednesday in September in which these regiments will participate: the Ninth Ohio Cavalry, the Fifty-fifth Ohio Volunteer Infantry, and the One Hundred and Forty-fourth Ohio Volunteer Infantry.

—Among the notables who will be present is Gen. John C. Lee, of Toledo, first colonel and present president of the Fifty-fifth regimental association. Arrangements will also be probably made to pop off the gas on that day.

—The marriage of Miss Mary Callahan, of this city, to Mr. Ed Shaw, of Canthage, N. Y., took place last Wednesday morning, July 2d, at St. Mary's Catholic church. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Father Burns. Miss Mary Hagen, a friend of the bride, acted as bridesmaid, and Mr. T. Gray, a friend of the groom, acted as best man. After the ceremony was performed the happy couple departed for the eastern part of the state, returning to the home of the bride where they will remain for a short visit. After that they start for Canthage, N. Y., their future home.

—We wish the young couple much joy and happiness in the future.

—The C. F. A. T. Adjourned.

—The annual meeting of the C. F. A. T. of One Hundred, Tuesday night, closing an interesting and profitable session.

—The next meeting is to be held in Mt. Vernon on the second Tuesday in July 1899.

—The delegates were highly pleased with the hospitality and entertainment afforded them while in this city.

Mrs. Susan Baker, wife of the founder of Marion, receives her friends in celebration of her sixtieth birthday.

A very pleasant event occurred at the home of Mrs. Susan Baker on east Center street this afternoon, the occasion being a reception given by Grandma Baker, in celebration of her sixtieth birthday anniversary. About 150 guests were invited and participated in the occasion. Among them were several from abroad—Mr. and Mrs. Frank Pearson, of Mansfield; Mrs. John Francis, of Tampa, Fla.; Mrs. O. C. Smith, of Toledo; and Mrs. Arthur Chagorn, of Mansfield. The reception was from 2 to 6, and five generations of the Baker family were present. The guests, most generally, were plentiful with the Episcopal church, which organization Mrs. Baker started in Marion in 1846, and has ever since taken a remarkable interest therein.

Mrs. Baker, who of course was the central figure on this occasion, is rather a remarkable old lady. Though the years and the payment of ninety years have shown their effects on her form and noble face, yet she is bright and lively and enjoying rare good health. Her memory is not been affected in the least, and on both early history and modern events she is fully conversant and very interesting. To the fact, who died this morning, Mrs. Baker conveyed freely and pleasantly, saying, among other things, that she had already lived fifteen of twenty years on borrowed time, and her good seemed good for a considerable period yet.

Her husband founded Marion in 1822, and all of the older churches and the court house stand on land donated by him for that purpose. At that time Mrs. Baker was living in Delaware, coming here in 1840. Six children blessed their union, but of these only one, Max (Baker), survives. In this connection it should be stated that Mrs. Baker was the second wife of the noble founder of Marion. She was born in Newton, Sussex county, N. J.

Surrounded by children, grandchildren, great grandchildren and great great grandchildren, besides a large number of friends, Mrs. Baker greatly enjoyed the reception today, and realized one of the greatest joys of old age, that of seeing four generations of descendants about her, all bright, happy and prosperous, following her happily on life's great journey from the cradle to the grave.

A BUCYRUS SENSATION

Judge Boy's Daughter, Knapes with W. T. Cayton, a Doctor Without Parental Approval.

The following special to the Enquirer will be read with interest here, where Judge Boy long and popularly presided on the Common Pleas bench, and now visits as a Circuit judge.

"The citizens of this city were surprised Tuesday afternoon when the report became generally circulated that Miss Katie, the daughter of Judge Thomas Boy, had eloped with W. T. Cayton, who hails from Dayton. Cayton was formerly clerk in the railroad office, and it was then the young people became acquainted and have sprung up. Two years ago the young man removed to Buffalo City, Mont., and during his absence the young people have exchanged letters regularly against the wishes of Judge Boy."

Last week, a wedding to arrangements between the two Cayton came East with the intention of marrying Miss Boy, but was met with determined opposition from the Judge, who refused to allow the young man to enter his, and so see the girl. Accordingly the young people left on Friday evening for Wooster, Ohio, where Dr. J. D. Boer, the brother of the lady, lives. On Saturday Dr. Boer and Mr. Cayton returned to this place to endeavor to reason the Judge over, but were unsuccessful. They returned to Wooster Saturday night, Cayton declaring that he proposed to marry the girl, and insisting that no power under heaven could prevent it.

A report was received here Tuesday that the marriage had already taken place, and the Enquirer is respectfully called on Judge Boy at his residence on Rose Hill for reliable data, but he refused to make any statement whatever.

Miss Boy is about twenty years of age, is handsome and talented and quite a favorite among the society people of the city and throughout the state where she is known."

Deserted His Wife.

Frederick is missing and wanted by his wife, who came here from Lawrence county, Tennessee, in answer to a request from him. It appears that about three years ago Levery, owing to an interesting state of affairs, was forced to marry the lady who is now here in search of him. After living with her a couple of years he decided to change his residence and came to this city without making known his whereabouts to his wife. After residing here some time, and after much deliberation, he decided to send for her that they might live happily together in this city, but by the time she arrived here, he had changed his mind and, without seeing her, left for parts unknown. She is now here in a destitute condition, with a small child, and depending on the sympathies of the people for support.

The Old Maid's Excursion.

Geo. Schantz, central passenger agent of the Detroit and Cleveland Steam Navigation company, and W. J. Semworth, southern passenger agent of the Michigan Central, were in the city Tuesday, making arrangements for the "Old Maid's Excursion," to be given in Mackinac about August 1st. This is the same party of unmarried maidens, who went to New Orleans, a couple years ago.

An elegant trip is before the party. The writer has enjoyed the pleasures of a lake ride to Mackinac, and it certainly is one of the most enjoyable pleasure trips possible for one to take. The Detroit and Cleveland Steam Navigation company know how to cater to its passengers, and does so in an admirable way.
